

MAWSS Taps McCrory for Assistant Director of Administration

Bud McCrory

Mobile Area Water & Sewer System (MAWSS) has named former MAWSS employee Billy Joe “Bud” McCrory, Assistant Director of Administration, a new position that will oversee business operations at MAWSS including Customer Service, Accounting, Human Resources, Public Relations, Information Technology, Warehouse, Meter Operations and Facilities.

McCrory most recently served as Water and Sewer Director for the City of Satsuma, a position he held for the past 10 years. There, he was responsible for all aspects of the Water and Sewer Utility, including personnel, budget, capital projects, regulatory compliance and computer systems.

For McCrory, coming back to MAWSS was like returning home. He began his career at MAWSS as a Summer Worker in 1992. Once hired full time, he worked his way up through the system holding positions of Unskilled Laborer, Public Service Worker I and II, Crew Chief, Public Service Supervisor I and Maintenance Management System Coordinator. In his former position at MAWSS, he oversaw emergency communications and implemented a company-wide Computer Maintenance Management System that combined and integrated all work orders and related data bases.

He holds a Bachelor’s Degree in Business Administration from Faulkner University and a Master of Business Administration from the University of South Alabama. A native and active member of the Semmes community, he is married and the father of three children.
